

Our aim at TrudyQ Consulting will be to assist each candidate to the best of our ability during the recruitment process.

We believe that the role we play is crucial right at the very beginning of the screening stage, to assist, guide and inform the candidate in providing them with as much information regarding the particular position that they are applying for.

We also actively market our candidates for positions relevant to their experience, skills and qualifications. We will strive throughout the entire process to ensure a very hands on, yet personal approach.

We believe that consistent feedback and follow-up is a “non-negotiable” commitment to all of our candidates during this period of assisting them with making the appropriate long term career choice.

" Committed to providing Personal Attention"